Rust Bucket

Atk. Butterfly

ISBN: 1-886420-50-5

Volume 1 in the Rust Bucket Universe Series. "The Ape-oid was remarkably fast, but mostly he had longer arms than I was used to. He managed to knock the stinger out of my hand just as it cleared the holster. I think he was just as surprised when he realized that I had longer legs as my foot lashed out and hit him in his hairy chest, knocking him onto his back. I reached into my hidden holster and pulled my antique projectile weapon."

Attack Butterfly

Atk. Butterfly

ISBN: 1-886420-53-X

Volume 2 in the Rust Bucket Universe series. “Susan watched the fixed sight sweep onto another destroyer as her ship came from behind the enemy fleet. She fired her Mark VI and peppered the enemy destroyer from stern to bow. She definitely saw two of her shots go clear through the hull to reveal space on the other side. The guns on the destroyer fell silent. She knew she had destroyed it.”

Waking Caliban

Mike Cartlidge

ISBN: 978-0-917990-96-0
 A 400 year-old puzzle, a modern-day hunt to the death. The world's greatest-ever literary figure died, leaving no public record of his life apart from a few scant notes from friends and acquaintances. But what if Shakespeare did leave a record, an explanation of his times? What if he left it hidden, along with his own editions of plays that are known today only through the secondhand recollections of the players who appeared in them? What would scholars and fans give to get their hands on such a trove? And what would it be worth?

Mayhem, Mystery and Murder

John A. Broussard

ISBN: 978-1-932482-39-3

“Back when I was a kid growing up in South Chicago, I never dreamed that having a Lebanese father and a Syrian mother would turn out to be an asset. But my ancestry paid off big-time when I sat down across from Timothy Fisher at a San Francisco sidewalk cafe on that warm September morning. He bought my cover as a Mid East terrorist hook, line and sinker. Of course, being an FBI agent, I'd been provided with excellent cover...”

Quite Contrary

John Chabot

ISBN: 978-1-932482-29-4

The unusual thing about the collection Quite Contrary is the range of subgenre. Although these are all crime stories, each is vastly different in its approach to the crime. One story, "A Step Above The Beasts," borders on horror, following the actions of a highly ethical murderer. "Time, The Thief," which is set in a piazza in Italy, shows the power of imagination, and comes dangerously close to being a romance. In several of the stories, notably "Five Points Of View," who the bad guy is may come as a surprise or even remain a mystery.

The Yoshinobu Mysteries: The first 4 novels

John A. Broussard

ISBN: 978-1-932482-11-9

Elima—imaginary Elima. It is one of the Neighbor Islands. That is what the residents of the main island of Oahu call the other islands in Hawaii. Elima is a county in its own right: the island has its own mayor, police force, tax structure, and share of corruption and murder. The first four Kay Yoshinobu novels are offered together for the first time in this one volume: Death of the Tin Man's Wife, The Left Hand of Death, Death of a Developer, and A Method to Murder.
